CRIPPEN PACES DECK; LOOKS WORN AND HAGGARD

Miss Leneve Keeps the State-room and Both Say They Did Not Sleep.

STEAMSHIP MONTROSE TRAVELING UP RIVER

Scotland Yard Man All Ready to Pounce on the Suspected Pair.

MONTREAL, July 30.—Today's Star prints another wireless dispatch from Captain Kendall of the Montrose, reading as follows: Steamship Montrose, July 30, via Father Point. The supposed Crippen was on deck early looking at Belle Isle. He had a worn look and paced the deck like one in thought. The supposed Miss Leneve was in her room all day. She wears a gloomy expression. We stopped in the fog last night. The suspects said they did not sleep. Both appeared haggard. I will send another wireless message tomorrow. (Signed) "KENDALL, Commander"

FATHER POINT, July 30.—The following wireless message from the steamship Montrose, directed to the Associated Press, was received here this morning, July 30, 7 a. m.: The Montrose now is ahead off Heath Point, Anticosti Island. Regarding your wireless. Nothing of importance has happened yet. Stopped in dense fog off Belle Isle Thursday night. Suspects were retiring then and there. No arrests have been made and they are still unsuspecting of observation. The weather is bright and clear. (Signed) LEW JONES, Montrose.

DOZEN NEGROES DIE IN RACE RIOTS

State Rangers Sent to Scene of Trouble at Slocum, Texas

HOUSTON, Texas, July 30.—That a dozen or more negroes have been killed and several white men wounded in a race riot at Slocum, Anderson county, is told in meager reports received here today. The adjutant general at Austin was notified of the trouble, and sent State Rangers to the scene and in a dispatch received here after noon says that possible further trouble will be averted. The first telegram late yesterday when James Alfred, a white man, had an altercation with a negro regarding a protest no...

SLAYER CAUGHT AFTER CHASE OVER HALF THE WORLD

Admits Identity, but Says That He Is Innocent of Little Girl's Death

Captured in San Francisco Hiding in Secret Place Under Sink in Kitchen of His House

No Tangible Clue Found to Connect Janitor With the Brutal Murder of the Child

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Covering under the cabinet work of a kitchen sink in a Third-street lodging house, Joseph Wendling, charged with the murder of 8-year old Alma Kellner in Louisville, Kentucky, and for whom the police of that city have searched for four months, was arrested today, and while admitting his identity, stoutly maintains his innocence of the crime. He denies that he ever heard the name of Alma Kellner.

After moving restlessly from place to place and finally jumping from Houston, Texas, to the little city of Vallejo, Wendling was bewitched by the pretty face of a girl, Alice Miller, on whom he spent his savings and for whom he committed burglary. Should the authorities in Louisville, therefore, be unable to convict him of the crime of murder, he can be returned here and sent up to the state's prison for entering the home of Naval Constructor Sanders at 649 Virginia street Vallejo.

Indifferent to Arrest

Stolidly indifferent to his arrest and yet watching with eagle eye and listening intently to the actions and words of the detectives who brought him to police headquarters Wendling is far from broken in spirit. He admits, without the quivering of an eyelid, that he is the janitor who left St. John's Parochial School in Louisville last January, but just as firmly does he deny that he is responsible for killing the girl whose decayed remains were found beneath the school building scarcely two months after he had left.

Fled From Vallejo

He fled from Vallejo, where he was receiving a remunerative wage and where his girl lived because of fear of detection for burglary and, on coming to this city, has been moving around to avoid the police, whom he knew were on this trail by reason of the newspaper accounts. Although the effects of Wendling have not been carefully examined as yet by the detective department, it is not believed that he carries with him any tangible clue to connect him with the horrifying tragedy for participation in which he is to be sent to Louisville.

CLUB PLACES SEAL OF APPROVAL ON CANDIDATES

County Recorder John W. Mott.

Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence, prescribed the test of fitness for public office in a single pithy sentence that has never been improved upon:

"Is he honest; is he capable?"

That summing up of the measure of qualification is the universally accepted standard today. The test it prescribes meets all requirements.

John W. Mott fills the requirement without reservation. As County Recorder he has displayed marked capacity and unimpeachable integrity. All who have had dealings with the Recorder's office since his incumbency bear warm testimony to the efficiency and fidelity with which he has discharged his official duties. No one has ventured to criticize his management of the County Records and the administration of his office.

Mr. Mott succeeded an efficient and popular man as County Recorder, one whose long tenure and repeated election gave evidence both of his capacity and the public esteem in which he was held, and his administration does not suffer by contrast. The standard of efficiency, economy and fidelity set by Mr. Grim has been admirably sustained by Mr. Mott, who in some respects improved the methods of transacting business in the County Recorder's office.

Mr. Mott is a candidate for re-election, and is asking a nomination at the hands of the Republican voters. The manner in which he has administered the office has won confidence and merits public commendation. It is an unanswerable argument in favor of his re-election. He has given the people faithful service, and it is axiomatic in private pursuits that faithful service merits reward, promotion, even. That is the essence of every civil service law placed on the statute books. It is regarded as a vital principle in business life. It is equally an essential of good government.

By every rule of political and business wisdom John W. Mott should be retained in the office he has filled so capably and creditably and with such general satisfaction to the public. He is courteous and obliging as well as upright and competent, hence THE TRIBUNE has no doubt that the intelligent voters of Alameda county will keep him where he is. One good term deserves another.

If you don't believe Oakland is growing look at Bradstreet's report of the bank clearings. This week Oakland's name, like Abou Ben Adhem's, led all the rest. Her increase was far ahead of the increase of any other city.

The Black Hand in Politics.

The Fresno Republican cheerfully admits that the Lincoln-Roosevelt League "did politics" when it came to putting up slates for the Supreme Court. The Republican ought to be an authority on the subject, for the editor of that sheet nominated the entire Lincoln-Roosevelt League ticket. A committee appointed by Chester H. Rowell, editor of the Fresno Republican, met from time to time and presented as Lincoln-Roosevelt League nominees such persons as Rowell designated or placed on his slate.

Never before in this State was witnessed so open an exhibition of bossism and star-chamber politics. Under the alias of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League Rowell has declared himself the Republican party. He constituted himself a nominating convention, repudiated the State Committee and through his candidate for Governor is loudly declaring that the Republican party is and has been for forty years corrupt and false to the people. These facts cast an illuminating light on the following extract from an editorial recently printed in the Fresno Republican:

"But, whatever happens, at least this much is certain: If Henry A. Melvin gets the Republican nomination, either on the Melvin-James pair, or by the defeat of both pairs, and if Judge William P. Lawlor of San Francisco, the judge whom the grafters could not bluff, gets the Democratic nomination, no power on earth can prevent Lawlor from being elected by the votes of the independent Republicans of California."

Rowell thus gives notice that he and his crowd will support the Democratic candidate, William P. Lawlor, in case Judge Melvin defeats either of the Rowell candidates for the Supreme Bench for the Republican nomination. There is abundant reason to believe that the Rowell aggregation will support Lawlor in any event, but here is a plain acknowledgment of an intention to support Lawlor as against Judge Melvin. Lawlor is the pet candidate of Rudolph Spreckels, under whose direction Rowell is acting, and hence it is quite natural that the Rowell organ should be preparing the public mind for the taking up of Lawlor by the Lincoln-Roosevelt League organization.

Independent of the question of whether it is desirable to have a Supreme Court that will dance every time the Spreckels-Rowell whip is cracked, is the fitness of Lawlor for the exalted position which he has been selected by Rudolph Spreckels and Chester H. Rowell to fill. When Lawlor ascended the Superior Bench by appointment he was without practice or standing in courts of record. Although he had been posing for years as a lawyer he had never been admitted to the bar and his law business was confined to petty cases before justices of the peace. He was given a special examination and admitted to the bar to qualify him for the appointment he was to receive.

Since taking his seat on the bench Lawlor's judicial experience has been almost exclusively confined to hearing criminal cases. As a jurist he is a joke. But there are still graver objections to him. He is controlled by a clique of conspirators and is by temperament and association unfitted to interpret the law with fairness and discernment. He neither knows nor respects the principles of jurisprudence.

However, the point at issue for the present is the fact that the Spreckels-Rowell league proposes to bolt one of the Republican candidates for the Supreme Bench and get behind a Democrat of inferior attainments and doubtful integrity.

John D. Works, the Lincoln-Roosevelt or Chester Rowell candidate for United States Senator, declines to discuss the tariff. Instead of stating his position on questions of national policy, Mr. Works lambastes the Southern Pacific. It is great sport, this kicking of a stuffed ogre, but it does not tell the public what a man intends to do when he gets into office. The animosity against the Southern Pacific manifested by Works has so recently developed as to excite remark if not suspicion. Until he became a candidate for Senator he was regarded as being on particularly friendly terms with the big corporation. During the time he sat on the Supreme Court he gave no evidence of harboring ill-will against the S. P. However, it is a matter of public knowledge that Works favors State division, and it is rather broadly stated that he favors smashing the tariff. Hence the voters would like him to present his views on those questions.

County Recorder, Rod V. Church (incumbent).

Coroner, Henry Evers.

County Tax Collector, James B. Barber, A. L. Stone.

All of these are subject to the decision of the Republican County Convention.

Judge Greene has thrown a bomb among the members of the bar of this county by an order directing Deputy County Clerk Furry to prepare for him a list of the estates of minors and deceased persons for the past ten years, wherein no account or inventory has been filed as required by law and also giving the names of the attorneys, administrators or guardians.

A reporter for THE TRIBUNE goes through the probate records for the past two years and discovers sixty-eight estates in which neither attorney, administrators or guardians have made a report of any kind. There is scarcely a prominent attorney in this city whose name does not appear as connected with one or more of the estates. Among the defaulting men of the law are those of two members of the Superior bench at the present time. It is problematical what the slowing will be made when the records have been gone over for eight years more.

STORIES ABOUT PEOPLE

J. Pierpont Morgan and Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont are among the first to be registered under the new automobile and chauffeur's license law of New York, which goes into effect on August 1. Mr. Morgan has only one car. Mrs. Belmont has six. Mr. Morgan describes his machine as the Secretary of State as a 20-horsepower limousine runabout Mrs. Belmont, it is reported, is qualified to run a car. She has registered six French cars, including a limousine, a runabout, a limousine, and a touring car. All her cars are entered under the name of Alva E. Belmont.

Mr. Morgan asked for license No. 4142. It was given to him. The finance leader's chauffeur, it is asserted, has already taken his examination, and is now fully authorized to wheel his boss around anywhere in New York City or State. Mrs. Belmont, it is reported, is qualified to run a car. She has registered six French cars, including a limousine, a runabout, a limousine, and a touring car. All her cars are entered under the name of Alva E. Belmont.

GOSSIP FROM SAN FRANCISCO WEEKLIES

Hair in Criminology

Human hair is now the study of M. Bertillon, who invented the science of fingerprinting. He is engaged in studying up a complete classified and radiating table of all the colors of the human hair. He considers a long-fingered man in criminal detection. When a man is wanted by the police in any country, the hue of his hair is only vaguely described and the terms used have no standard meaning. What is called fair in Sicily is considered dark in Scandinavia and vice versa. When he has gathered together a complete collection of hair from all parts of the world, M. Bertillon will classify it according to a graduated scale of shades and the number of each shade. When the scale has been communicated to the police of the world, the description of a criminal will mention the number of his hair and the police of all nations will know just what color is meant.—Town Talk

Ending the Farce

It is a reproach upon the judiciary of the city and county of San Francisco that Messrs. Patrick Calhoun, Tracy I. Ford and W. M. Abbott, after years of effort to secure justice in the court before which they were arraigned at the behest of a maliciously inspired and privately procured prosecution should have been compelled to seek that justice in the Supreme Court of the State. The Constitution guarantees every accused citizen the right to a speedy trial. The gentlemen named charged by business rivals and personal enemies with a trifling matter of the law have sought that trial repeatedly and patiently but it has always been denied them in their despite the impossibility of a conviction as was shown by the prompt acquittal twice of the third. It is a reproach upon the judiciary of the city and county of San Francisco that they were certainly shown here.

It is pleasing to believe that the prolonged travesty on the law is about to end but not the least pleasing feature of the litigation is the incidental rebuke of the lawyers and Duncans of the bench, past, present and future.—News Letter

The Colonel and Mrs. "Ducksey"

Who do you suppose is going to be the chief character witness for Mrs. Ducksey Rosenbaum in her libel suit against the New York World? You could never guess in a thousand years. When you hear it you may not believe it but there is absolutely no doubt about the fact. None other than Colonel — Ah, Colonel Kowalski? You're wrong. Colonel Kowalski is the character witness of royalty and has not affiliated since King Leopold went to his chariotry home where the good niggers from the Congo go. Well then, Colonel Trumbo? Wrong again. Colonel Trumbo prefers his picture gallery to the law courts. As you will never be able to guess right I am going to tell you. It is simply Colonel Jim Lankershim of Los Angeles, the same who is president of a bank and proprietor of the Lankershim Hotel. For aught I know Colonel Lankershim may be even now making his deposition in the case of the innuendo character of Mrs. Ducksey Rosenbaum. That I to say he may be making it if certain influential citizens of Los Angeles have not dissuaded him from his chivalrous undertaking. Strong indeed will be the arguments which will be advanced by Colonel Lankershim's friends to prevent him from playing Don Quixote to the Duchess de Toboso of Mrs. Ducksey, but I doubt whether they will be efficacious. Colonel Lankershim professes great admiration for Mrs. "Ducksey" and is resolved to go to her assistance in the crisis of her career. John State the star man of the New York World who was out here to investigate the past of Mrs. "Ducksey" did not make the slightest dent in the armor of Colonel Lankershim's resolve. "Supposing you were convinced that such and such and so on was the case," argued John State to the colonel, "would you still persist in your determination?" To which the colonel replied with the glitter of pertinacity in his eye, "My deposition will be in New York at the proper time."—Town Talk

Judge Shortall Is Engaged

Police Judge Edward Shortall, the remarkable ascending forefinger, is to be married. Any free man can get married at any time of course but in this case it is slightly different. The Judge never looked as though he were considering it. His eyes even in broad daylight were moments of modern courtship. He never showed his hand until he had laid the cards of present-day love and his tender consideration. Ah, but say his friend — the Judge is really in love in a world of differences that he might have shown he had polished forth his palm for finger and said, "Come — we can play a game of cards." The lady, it is whispered, is not a "C" of them. In an era so modern as this it is well to know that a real love affair can yet take place. — But how did Cupid ever get past the district's impregnable Shortall's fortress? "How did he escape being produced in his big 'Humpty' and in a cold light that satirized anything pointing in the direction of the 'rich of the court'?" In what remarkable manner did he work his blow to the heart and lay the Judge at his feet or rather at the lady's? However or whatever it is not out of place to express the wish that this fight of the Joffrey-Johnson affair, till at a time in the future climax at R. R. Cupid never wins there. The least sort of a brain-lazy lawyer plucks his feathers for a nest. But here — well he has conquered Judge Shortall. None are so much surprised as the Judge's own friends. Of them said to him:

"I cannot imagine you being in love, Shortall."

"I don't see why," retorted the Judge. "I have been 'courting' all my life." — News Letter

Horse Thief But No Gambler

I. B. Leroy, the notorious horse thief, has been captured. Sheriff Robert Chatham of San Mateo county is the hero in the case. If anything could possibly surprise us more than that the daring operator in horseflesh had been caught it is that Chatham did the catching. After many moons and terms of service this man has at last done something for his county. May his deeds go down in history as the most remarkable of accidents. A for Leroy, he will probably be "bumped." It serves him right. But he should have known better than to trust himself in San Mateo county with an election case at hand. Had as he may be he is a professional gambler, and should have remembered that there is an infinite difference between running a horse and a dice. There is a limit in San Mateo county for a gambler. But J. B. Leroy understands now. And it would seem that he is a foolhardy. He is very posted on county official affairs. At a place where the sheriff stopped with a prisoner in tow a crowd gathered around them and someone called at Leroy's risibly "Horse thief" while the sheriff smiled the smile of his prowess.

The Van Lew Case

Miss Ada Clark of Chico is deserving much sympathy—principally for the reason that she has a brother. It was this brother the Rev. C. Todd Clark who captivated the imagination of the question of Dr. C. C. Van Lew's fitness for the high position which he occupies in the local school department. Whatever the outcome of this investigation may be it is hardly to be gainsaid that it is very unfortunate for Ada Clark that she figured therein as the complainant. This fifteen-year-old girl is not deserving of the notoriety that she has received. Admitting that Dr. Van Lew attempted a violent excess he did her less injury than has been done by the brother who brought the incident to public attention causing her to be involved in a bitter village feud and a very unsavory scandal. The Rev. Clark's lack of discretion is far more reprehensible than Van Lew's lack of self-restraint.

A teacher there was named Van Lew. A maid for a girl he would give. And the maid, he embraced. Thing is arm from her neck. And raised a great hubbub.

Miss Clark is especially unfortunate in not having the sympathy of her sex and locally so in having the scorn of the knitters of Chico. For the knitters of Chico are ardent and furious partisans. They are women of precisely the same temperament as the knitters of our craft. Enraptured from all the affirmative qualities that the foolish poets have rhapsodized about, the knitters of Chico have given some interesting exhibitions of village partisanship. "To curb the passions' maddening sway is not the delight of these village queens that express their emotions in hisses and jeers and tempestuous applause. 'O woman! lovely woman!' says the poet nature, made thee to temper man we had been brutes without you. But ill poets have a conception of womanhood that credits the sex with giving earth its charm. Life's zest, with having but one task, the task to fuss and to be best. The poets see nothing but tenderness, gentleness and amiability in the sex. They don't know anything about knitters the frenzied regulators of society, the stern, uncompromising dames whose disposition it is to heap coals of fire where they may be considered to do the most good. Of such are the women of Chico who congregated daily at the Van Lew investigation to wince the heart of a sixteen-year-old girl and bring tears of humiliation to the eyes of an aged father."—Town Talk

Victor Blue, Fire Fighter

Commander Victor Blue of the United States gunboat "Yorktown" happened to be in Portland during the recent conflagration which wiped out a lot of valuable business property. It is opportunity which makes heroes and when the opportunity came to Commander Blue he showed it with heroic resolve. When the fire broke out Commander Blue ordered his men ashore to fight it, and the assistance which he thereby rendered to the Portland authorities and fire fighters has won him many sincere congratulations from the citizens of Portland. It is not necessary to say that Commander Blue is well known in San Francisco. He is almost as well known here as his brother Dr. Rupert Blue who will always have a place in the history of American sanitation on account of his work in this city. —Town Talk

Which is the Better Comedian?

Now that it is practically certain that Kolb and Dill will go their respective ways the question arises, which will prove the more successful of the two? Will the tall man, Clarence Kolb, who has the little man, Max Dill, more than the little man needs the tall man? It is an interesting question upon which public opinion will be divided. Personally I think that Kolb is the better actor and that he will achieve a greater success than Dill. In the technical language used behind the scenes Dill has always been a feeder for Kolb, that is to say, he has supplied the opportunities of which Kolb availed himself for mirth-provoking purposes. When Dill appeared on the stage the audience instinctively waited for Kolb to come and do something to him whereas Kolb carried many situations alone. This is an individual opinion of course. There is no doubt that Kolb is the business man of the team. It was he who managed the company, attended to the booking, advertising and other details.—Town Talk

Adventures of Titled Couple

A friend in Santa Barbara writes me that a titled English couple now tarrying there have had a most amusing experience which somehow has become public property. The very wealthy chateau of a mansion on the roof of the sea captured the English aristocrats for a house party. When they were shown to their rooms they found that the exquisite linen on the bed bore their family crest, that even the desk was provided with crested note paper, and the hand-embroidered towels showed the same heraldic design. My Lord and Lady were amazed at this example of prodigal hospitality. They had been introduced to the lavish American hostess in London but they were not prepared for such palatial and intimate catering. It was an example of the exquisite lengths to which the American hostess goes, and as soon as My Lord joined the man on the veranda he gave vent to his surprise and pleasure over this scrupulous attention. There was a smother of silence broken only by the swish of the lawn and then some brave man blurted out his right.

I stalked off after My Lady to enlighten her, but she too had finished her mystic of the toilette, and was the center of a group in the drawing room which group was bounded on the extreme north by the hostess—a rigid position in which to bask like the torrid rays. But it was too late to enlighten My Lady from a splashy conversation that was largely a delighted appreciation of the delicate attention of supplying them with their own crest. The dinner announcement saved the situation and when My Lady sat down to the table spread with finery and napery and burnished with silver and gold she appreciated why her husband had cast annihilating glances at her.

For the same crest was repeated everywhere in the house. It was not a subtle attention to the titled visitors. It was her own symbol for which they had paid a good round sum to the makers in London. The other guests who have had to wear a bit with the pretensions of the hostess seemed to be enjoying the situation. But the wit of My Lady twisted the awkward moment into one of grace for the hostess. Lifting a gold spoon and stirring the crest she said to the hostess, "You must belong to the American branch of our family. My mother-in-law has often spoken of that branch. You should meet her when you come abroad again."

The wise man who said of the College of Heraldry "the foolish people don't even know their own foolishness" would chuckle over this manifestation of stupidity. For it certainly was dull to lift such a well-known English crest but, and present it to a family of Irish extraction. The study of heraldry is an amusing pastime and enables one to see at a glance unwarranted pretensions. A woman uses a tongue crest and woe betide the import of her stolen goods. These are some mistakes in heraldry that through usage have become correct. For example the expression "bar sinister" is generally accepted as the insignia of illegitimacy although as a matter of fact it is a "bend sinister" which denotes that position in life—a bend, not a bar was on the sinister side of the shield but a bar across applied the expression "bar sinister" and it has been a bromide ever since.—News Letter

The Mrs. Bruguiere That Was

The lady who was Mrs. Pedro Bruguiere before the doctor's present marriage has just arrived in Newport for a visit with Mrs. Bruguiere senior. Gosling that she is to wed William Burden whose young wife's tragic death by suicide shocked New York society a few years ago. This gossip is a little surprising because it is only a month since we were informed that Henry Clews Jr. was a suitor for this lady's hand in Paris or rather that he intended to be a suitor as soon as the divorce court freed him from his present Mrs. Clews. He too, is at Newport, having crossed from Europe a week or two preceding Mrs. Bruguiere's migration from Paris. Whether or not Mrs. Bruguiere that was will marry Burden or Clews is a subject on which there is much speculation. Meanwhile Emil Bruguiere pursues his insouciant way in Paris, whence comes the announcement that another recently completed comedy opera of his composition will be produced in America next fall.—Town Talk

Where Does the Stork Come In?

When one of the newspapers reported last week that Mr. James D. Phelan was to be reconciled to his brother-in-law Mr. Frank Sullivan, it imparted a heavy coloring of mystery to the affair by stating in a headline that the stork was to be a potent feature of the reunion. The curiosity excited by this interesting statement in the headline was not satisfied by any details in the body of the article. There was absolutely no mention of a stork in the article. Reference is made to the stork in the headlines of the newspapers or to the species sacred to Lucia which brings its precious offering of pink and white humanity to blushing brides was not to be found by the most careful reader. Wherefore I am disposed to read between the lines of the mysterious headline. Is the stork referred to a bird of such elusive passage that only the reader familiar with the most intimate details of Mr. Phelan's life can understand the relevance of the reference? I would be inclined to think so did I not know Mr. Phelan to be a bachelor. The stork presupposes marriage, being a most conventional bird. Mr. Phelan has so far eschewed I am afraid I must apply to a member of the Family Club for the elucidation of this mystery for the Family Clubmen are authorities on storks.—Town Talk

Ducked the Photographer

The photographer who snapp'd Marian Newhall in her bathing suit has had to temporarily disappear from the environs of Santa Barbara, for death and destruction have been threatened. He suffered a severe ducking from some of her "masculine friends" at the time, but it was not then known that he had actually succeeded in getting a snap or he would undoubtedly have been given a chance to do some deep sea thinking. He is presently at the Potter is all on Mrs. Newhall's side and her friends say that her bathing suit was not designed to excite curiosity, nor did she exert attention—in fact she always wears a cape to the water's edge. But the vengeful instinct that never has such a blinding suit blinked at the fishes—a pale blue silk affair with huge polka dots. Temptation, the fiancé of Helena, twin who is a great chum of Marian Newhall's, has offered to go a-gunning for the audacious photographer, and Raymond Ainsbury never goes forth without arming himself to the teeth. The pastured civility of the glided world of the San Francisco contingent is running auck.

Which reminds me that this is not the first time a pale blue silk bathing suit splashed across the horizon of a water-lily. Some eight years ago Lathrop Hager who used to furnish bills to society, but is no longer in business at the old stand, appeared on the beach at Monterey in a clinging pale blue silk suit. To be sure he did not have polka dots like Marian Newhall's but that was eight years ago and society gets "tetter" every year. Miss Hager made the alpaca mermals in their serviceable navy blue and blacks sit up and "ake" envious notice of her pale blue silk. But when his fame spread to the camera man she outwitted him by sending her maid down in the suit. When the newspaper received the photographs the society edict verified that the bathos was not Lathrop Hager by a hundred pounds and before the photographer could get into action against the real owner of the pale blue bit of silk had folded it up and disappeared from Monterey.—News Letter

Manila's Big Amphitheater

Berkeley is not the only place which has a huge amphitheater a village to open air performances of music. France has one and so has Manila. A correspondent of the Pacific Coast Western Review relates how a chorus of 6000 school children sang in the Hippodrome, which has a seating capacity of over 10,000. The people who entertained the "us" views about children's singing forgot their indifference and were amazed to hear the Filipino children from the second third and fourth grades only sing in such a fine time and in a language practically new to them. They were trained by Miss Katherine Black formerly of San Francisco.—Town Talk

Greenway Burst Into Song

It is told of Mr. Greenway that on his way over "he scooted the stormy deep by song." Is it possible to conjure up a spectacle more sublime than that of Mr. Greenway's combative pate striking through a port-hole again—fantazizing things to the angry Athar in the mid waves seeking vainly to throw cold water on the enthusiasm of his attack or to dampen the fury of his audacious courage? It is easy to imagine just how those waves felt. At the sound of his voice they curled and writhed and tumbled over each other in vain effort to get back at him but facing all the foam and fust the wind and rain, the powerful intellectual features of Edward M. Greenway looked out calm and unmoved until despairing of their efficacy they gave up the unequal contest and sneaked away off over the horizon exhausted and cowed. It was another contest of mind over matter. The Atlantic ocean is a pretty big thing in its way but it is safe to predict that it will not again venture to monkey with our Mr. Greenway.—News Letter

Mrs. Graham's Glass Auto

The miniature crystal alaces which are the latest thing in automobiles have found a number of American purchasers in Paris according to the foreign correspondents who keep us in touch with affairs in Europe. They are a little late however in noting the fact as it is quite a year since Mrs. William Miller Graham astonished the natives at Santa Barbara with her glass coach the only one, I believe in California. Mrs. Graham secured it on her trip abroad last summer and with it came a French chauffeur in maroon livery. The back shades and front of the car are of plate glass that extends from top to flooring and gives an unobstructed view of costumes within. Incidentally the occupants may have an unobstructed view of eyes and see every without. In the six months Mrs. Graham flashed her car about Santa Barbara there was no abatement of popular interest in each successful appearance. On her return fresh from a London triumphs exhibitions of the glass coach will probably be resumed. Since the success of Mrs. Graham in England interest in the glass coach has been awakened in her local career. I am told the Grahams first appeared in Cincinnati whence they came to California living for a time in Rose Valley where they were socially well content. From there they went to Pasadena, with the intention of building a home and becoming permanent residents. But the atmosphere of the place proved uncongenial and the Grahams migrated to Santa Barbara where they purchased a mammoth place. William Graham is said to have won and lost a great fortune, and in the past few years to have cleared six millions on some of his oil deals.—Town Talk

The Morals Of Waukesha

The whole town of Waukesha, Wis., is "in bad" with its morals gone wild and no way under the sun or under the law to revise them. A mineral water concern out there with a sinful desire to attract attention posted a beautiful billboard picture of a lady who really, to put it plainly, needed the earnest and instant attention of a model. The City Council at once made a demand that the lady either give an order to her dresser or else get outside the corporate limits of Waukesha. The president of the mineral water company was cited to appear and "show cause." He did so. He also showed that the lady of bewitching smile and no clothes was simply a photographic reproduction borrowed from the Great Seal of the City of Waukesha. This Great Seal is hung in every saloon that has a license and in places not so lax but nobody thought of questioning the lady's modesty until she began to boost mineral water. The dry profess to see in this an attempt to discredit temperance drinks.—Town Talk

Breach of Promise

Frank Thompson is a California millionaire's son who has been hunting for the joys of life with such avidity that he has already been tagged with one divorce case and a breach of promise suit. The Thompsons are an old Southern family and their circle of friends includes what in society parlance is termed the very best people. Old Captain R. R. Thompson was reputed to be worth $800,000. At one time he owned the big house on Van Ness avenue that had formerly been the property of Robert G. Hayes, the stockbroker. Another Mr. Monro, a Mr. Johnson bought the house later on when Captain Thompson died his son Frank's share of the estate was a million, but it is said that much of the million was in stocks that have not borne out their golden promise.

However the heir to the million began spending it as if it were all real money. This manner in which he blew it to the winds landed the money in the hands of his family. The wife, who was a very good girl, was so tired of his dissipation that she finally secured him for divorce alleging habitual intemperance and habitual cruelty. The divorce was granted by the injured wife who secured for herself and daughter a settlement of $375,000 by waiving a moiety. Free of wife and daughter she started again on his quest of the joys of life. His travels led him to one Hazel Nordhoff on whom he spent $2,000 it is alleged. Hazel in good time effaced herself from the scene and the bon vivant joggling along the primrose path met the conventional Miss A. B. Baner, who, imitating some notable society examples announced her engagement to him promptly. His first divorce had not yet been granted. Presently her fiancé found a new attraction. It is said in a Miss Clemence Bordone and has so gravely shocked Miss Artie's tender sensibilities by his fickleness that not a cent less than $50,000 will heal her broken heart. The legal doctors who have chosen are Chapman and Humphreys and the surgical operation of separating the defendant from that sum will surely furnish the reporters material. If it ever takes place in public, Miss Artie will describe it. It is said how she turned down numbers of offers of marriage from Klondike millionaires and the lordly owners of oil gushers in Fresno to prove her loving loyalty to her middle-aged fiancé who is in a fair way to become a grandfather before many years.—The Wasp

The Sidestepping Of Pinchot

Frank Short the Fresno attorney who is campaigning for Congressman McKinley has abandoned all hope of ever being able to lure Mr. Gifford Pinchot into debate on the question whether conservation is beneficial to the American people. That the distinguished forester recognizes the Fresno attorney as a dangerous opponent is evident from the fact that he has frequently warned the daily beloved people against him. But being a reformer he does not deign to refute any of Short's arguments or challenge the accuracy of any of Short's statements. He prefers to call names. At the Conservation Congress in Spokane he referred to Short as the representative of that "mysterious intangible logic the power trust and in Los Angeles recently he advised the people to beware of Short. In giving this advice Mr. Pinchot is doubtless sincere for he follows it religiously himself. He has been evading Short for some months and proving himself an expert in sidestepping. One day they met in Washington and the forester said, "I see you have been flouting my policies."

You or not, said Short, but I certainly have been flouting conservation policies before a committee of Congress.

"I'd like to meet you before that committee," the forester observed.

"I'm going away tomorrow," said Short, "but I will be glad to meet you in about two months."

They parted. And then it occurred to Short that it would be advisable to postpone his departure. Life went immediately to the chairman of the committee that was considering conservation and had the subject reopened and an invitation sent to Pinchot to address the committee on the following day. Pinchot left Washington as soon as the invitation was received. Some weeks later when the forester made some public allusion to Short the attorney wrote him a letter offering to meet him in any city in the country before any audience he might select to debate the question. Is conservation beneficial to the American people? Pinchot answered the letter, saying that it was impossible for him to make an engagement at that time. That was before he found that he had time to come west in the interest of Hiram.

A Rumor About Delmas

In certain legal circles it is a matter of speculation whether or not Napoleon Bonaparte, Delphin M. Delmas will be called East to take charge of the case of Porter Charlton, the young banker who murdered his beautiful wife Mary Scott Castle on Lake Como in Italy. It is the opinion of these circles that if the negotiations with Italy place the liberty of young Charlton in jeopardy Delmas will be summoned across the continent and maybe across the ocean to defend him. There is no doubt that Delmas made a great impression in New York as a criminal lawyer during the trial of Harry Thaw. It was he of course who invented the term "demon in Americana" which really summarized the whole Delmas line of defense. I have heard competent lawyers say that if Delmas had been allowed to handle the case alone he would have secured an acquittal. At any rate, these seem to be the reasons to suppose that his name is being considered by the father of the youthful wicide. It would be a significant thing if Henry McPike Delmas partner should no longer be called this time. McPike handles the business end of the firm and it was he who conducted the negotiations with the Thaw family which ended in the execution of Delmas. Meanwhile Delmas is devoting considerable thought to his gorgeous neckties and is whipping the streams of his native Sate for trout.—Town Talk

Younger Set At Santa Barbara

Prominent amongst the young set at Santa Barbara this summer is Miss Margarette Doe, daughter of the San Francisco millionaire lumberman who built the old St. Nicholas Hotel, corner of Hayes and Market streets. The fire destroyed it, and the Doe family has not rebuilt on the very valuable property. Miss Doe gives enjoyable dinners at her mother's place Earlton at Montecito General and Mrs. Long and Dr. and Mrs. Fag were amongst her guests at a dinner last week. She is an enthusiastic motorist, which is equivalent to saying that she does not always keep within the speed limit. So at least, thought a buccolic constable who chased her flying automobile and only caught up with it when Miss Doe and her friend stopped at a much-frequented resort for refreshments. The local Cerebus demanded the fair motorist's name.

"My name is Doe if you must have it," remarked the object of official wrath.

Thereupon Cerebus barked furiously thinking he was being gayer with the usual John Doe and Richard Roe formula so familiar to police court officials.

"Don't give me no more of that!" said he, fiercely. "I'm an officer of the law in the discharge of my duty and etc etc etc—buccolic threats of dark do goons and heavy fines calculated to subvert all levity in Jucose offenders. Happily, Chief Ross of the Santa Barbara police chanced along at this trying moment and adjusted the affair pleasantly.—The Wasp

The Strenuous Miss Crocker

Miss Jennie Crocker is establishing a record to rival the strenuous career of Alice Roosevelt Longworth, who is said to have slept four hours out of every twenty-four during her White House days. Miss Crocker fitted to Santa Barbara on a Friday home again on Monday morning entertained at luncheon at the St. Francis that day and with her guests who were Miss Wain and Mrs. Peter Martin and others spent the afternoon at the Orpheum. Following this Miss Crocker had a brief reprieve in which to change her frock before going to Mrs. Walter Martin's dinner and later to a party at the Columbia. Earlier closed the day. On Tuesday, Miss Crocker returned to Llandis. Wednesday she was back in town looking fresh and glowing in a simple pale blue linen suit with a small white hat and lace veil. Thursday she was again en route to Santa Barbara where the while is merrily on her way. Such indefatigable beauties as the Newhall girls and Mrs. Fred McCreary.—Town Talk

Figaro Joins Apollo

It is a characteristic of city women on a summer vacation to become intensely interested in rural celebrities. They place these heroes of the woods and villages and generally regard them five seconds after they are seated in their train to return to town for the winter. One of the local Italian American who leads the band which plays summer and winter and is supported by popular subscription. He is only 23 but has already been divorced by one wife which seems to make the romantic-looking young musician all the more interesting to his many admirers one of the most ardent of whom is a city heiress who has Spanish blood in her veins. The summer vacationists at Santa Barbara are asking each other as they idle by the shore, if it is sentimental attraction or if it is usual kind or will it end more seriously than with customary adieu at the railroad station and perhaps a few kisses blown on the light sea breeze. The dark-skinned young musician looks quite romantically handsome when he strolls along immediately suffering at a large long-stemmed American Beauty rose. He is none a product of Southern California. He is a Southern European for he has lived in the vicinity of Santa Barbara since he was five years old and before he became a votary of the lyre Apollo was the Fresno Venus. One of the recent swaggers events at Santa Barbara was a contest of a favored few being treated to the divine drama which the gifted band leader had prepared with his own cast hands. The exclusive who par took of it say that it was delicious enough to have been flavored with American Beauty roses. The rest of the company had just spaghetti cooked by a woman who knows her business.—The Wasp

Enid Gregg Is Home Again

Fascinating bewitching Enid Gregg, the only girl in town who is the only type of herself in San Francisco, is back from a trip to Europe with her mother, Mrs. Wellington Gregg, Miss Ethel Gregg and her friend Miss Elyse Schultz and once more Miss Enid and Miss Elyse are familiar figures in the grand court of the Palace Hotel during luncheon and tea hours.

The first appearance of these two close friends since their return Saturday night was on Monday when they were among the many luncheon guests at the Palace. The young ladies look a great deal alike as to carriage form and height and as they dress alike most of the time they make a very striking figure. Monday they were garbed in the newest European fashion and gowns and hats were exactly alike. Their companions were of that sort clinging within that has weight to it and of pale black hair is the latest thing or the Curtains were the death of King Edward. The gowns were all in folds and shirrs and had the narrow skirts which had a tendency to make the two young ladies look much taller than they are and neither one is of the "sawed off" height. The sleeves were short with a fullness at the shoulder coming just above the elbow and with long black gloves below. Their hats were in smooth black picture affairs very French looking and chic.

It is being whispered about that when Enid Gregg was rescued from an opponent, to become a Viscountess.—News Letter

Children Are Fashionable

One of my correspondents at Santa Barbara, the Mecca of the exclusives, informs me with a touch of cynicism that children are fashionable this summer. The statement has no bearing whatever on the mooted question of race suicide, but simply means that in the swaggers sets it is not considered unconventional to show a lively interest in one's offspring. This is a condition of affairs which affords me real pleasure, but at the same time I suspect that my cynical informant over emphasizes a natural state of affairs. Even our most exclusive mothers and fathers are not devoid of humanity and it is hardly fair to point out that they are trying to make the summer time agreeable to their helpless. My correspondent writes that Mrs. Andrew Welch is often seen romping with her two beautiful children in the company of Miss Charles Harley and her three little boys adding that they all go swimming before breakfast and all enter the dining room of the Potter together freshly flushed from their morning dip. He states that Mrs. George Newhall a ways has her two little boys at the table with her and that she takes the eldest into the surf that Fred McCreary never enters the water without his little son and that the Frank Deering are accompanied by their young daughter wherever they go. These statements do not surprise me in the least. During the busy whirl of the winter season mothers cannot see so much of their children and must entrust them to the care of their nurses, but during vacation time it is only natural that they should have them continually about them. To say that children are fashionable is a cynical way of stating half a truth.—Town Talk

Brings Suit On New Ground

Mrs. Fannie Crocker McCreary, who changed her plea for divorce on non-support grounds to "desertion" after advising her lawyer is worth about $100,000, which she has as various times inherited. She could easily secure a new husband for that sum, but her friends say Mrs. McCreary has no desire to change her name, but simply wishes legal freedom. She had not lived with her husband for a long period but had spent most of her time in traveling. She is the third daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Clark Crocker. The eldest sister married Fred Green and the second became the wife of Judge William Carey Van Fleet. The youngest daughter, Julia who was one of the most charming and popular young matrons of society a few years ago died shortly after her return from a long trip abroad. She was married to Samuel G. Buckbee, first president of the Automobile Club of California and brother of Spencer C. Buckbee, who married Miss Burdow. The death of Mrs. Buckbee was particularly sad. She left an infant daughter, which was placed by the young father in the care of his mother, the widow of Rev. C. O. Buckbee, and his sister Mrs. Anne Buckbee now Mrs. Bliss. The McCrearys, though they were married fourteen years, had no children. Mr. Robert C. McCreary whose wife wishes an absolute divorce from him is of the Sacramento family no relation at all to the A. E. McCrearys who spell their name differently but whom the papers frequently confound with the Sacramentos. Henry Crocker the eldest brother of Mrs. McCreary married Miss May Ives, sister of Miss Florence Ives whose engagement to Othello Serber was recently announced. Edna, the youngest brother, died when a mere lad. Clark Crocker was a brother of the late Charles Crocker but never reached the financial importance of the latter. Charles Crocker left his nieces, Fannie and Julia comfortable little inheritances and when Mrs. Charles Crocker died she also left her nieces a bequest. The Clark Crockers owned a house at the corner of Sutter and Octavia streets which fell to the children at their parents' death.

Mrs. Fannie McCreary owns railroad, gas mining and oil stock, besides having real estate holdings that are every day increasing in value. She is now in early middle age and is noted for her social though when a girl she was noted as the giver of delightful original parties and her chief pleasure is traveling. She has recently been visiting her sister, Mrs. Van Fleet and the latter's family at Inverness.—The Wasp

FROM far and near the incoming train bring loads of tourists, telling the story that for many the midsummer vacation days are over. The schools reopen on Monday, and that means the children must take up again their daily tasks. Such a sorry lot of children as come in on the many trains, and their funny little faces are blackened from the sun, or browned. The little girls are the despair of their mothers with their sun-burnt faces, or their freckled noses, and with a sigh they return to the conventions which hedge round girls in the city. But after all, in each one's heart a soft refrain is saying itself over and over:

FAMILIES RETURNING TO THE CITY.

With the return of many families to town social life will begin again. In California people go away very early for the summer, and there is a correspondingly early return to town. Many card clubs begin in September, taking a vacation from the December holiday time. In fact, September is a very busy month in the line of entertaining, for many hostesses who plan large efforts like to have them "over and done with" before the rains begin.

Some of the most clever hostesses in the State are busy on our side of the bay, and they owe their success to the fact that they know how to plan the entertainment for their friends. It has been wisely said:

"Anybody can give a dinner, but it takes skill to give a successful dinner."

And again it has been written by a man wise in his day and generation: "The more leisure people have the harder it is to amuse them. You can't collect much of a crowd of people to watch you spend money. You've got to give them a real show."

And so the early August days find many hostesses busy in planning a social campaign. Mothers are planning to entertain for their young daughters, there are several wedding parties of interest scheduled for the early autumn, which mean of course, entertainments for the brides-elect. In fact, there are all sorts of entertainments for many kinds of guests.

There are the hostesses who are really gentle women—women of much courtesy, of great refinement—to whose home it is always a pleasure to go. And there are other homes that one approaches with very much the feeling of "a lamb led to the slaughter." There are some people who never will really be in the heart of things social, try as they may.

Graham Phillips, the well-known writer, recently gave us an exceedingly clever book on American social conditions, and of the people with just money alone to recommend them—the "climbers"—he writes: "They're just goats, and they know it, and they feel it. And when you go to their house, they suggest a restaurant-keeper, welcoming his customers, and when they come to your house they suggest Cook's tourists, touring in the private apartments of a palace, smiling apologetically at every one and wondering whether they're not about to be told to step lively."

But after all, that is rather hard on "the climber," and really the latter has her uses, if only "to point a moral and adorn a tale."

WOMAN'S BEAUTY IS DISCUSSED.

Once the days when the beauty of Helen of Troy roused men to arms, and to the wonderful war, the days of which is told in the Iliad, woman's beauty has been the theme of many poems, of many books, and the motif around which have been painted the great pictures of all ages.

And so it happens that the coming of Hugo Fisher to California was much in the line of modern civilization. The latter is carried to a high pitch of excellence in the United States and the artist who illustrates a book is coming to be of almost as much importance as the man who has written it.

The Gibson, Christy and Fisher are the three most prominent types of American women now before the public, and the creators of the types are realizing that people are growing tired of these girls, with their self-same poses and expressions, looking out from the pages of books of romance.

Some years ago a very remarkable contribution was given for St. Paul's Church, in a series of pictures illustrating the "Adventures of Mr. Pips." The living pictures were quite wonderful, and among the most charming of the studies was that posed by Miss Christie Taft, while pictures of much distinctive charm were reported by Mrs. Robert Fitzgerald (Anna Crelina) Mrs. Herbert Brown (Miss Mona Crelina).

It is not any wonder that an Easterner should come out to the West for a type of beauty whose underlying fascination should be character. If a Western young man has not the latter characteristics, he loses her beauty when time is running to rob her of her youth. We all know the young nation who is once been a very pretty girl, but whom one says, "She has lost all her looks."

type of American young girl known to the rest of the world as "The California Girl." The right kind of girl has always high ideals, and she is at home, without in the least being masculine.

On a upon a time Tennyson wrote a lovely poem, and he called it "A Dream of Fair Women." An equally fine story might tell a tale of beautiful women in our own city, and we might find them in all ages and conditions of life. For the gift of beauty is not confined to youth alone. Some of the most fascinating women in our own city are those with the perfectly white hair and the bright young look on their faces—faces on which life has written a story infinitely sweet and tender.

A well-known woman who stands for such along social lines received some photographs recently from a well-known artist. She was much disappointed because he had carefully erased some of the lines.

"I worked so hard for those life lines," she said, "they cost me so much. I think I might be allowed to keep them."

And so it happens that there are many types of women on our side of the bay who would be charming models for illustration, who might pose for pictures really beautiful, or even for studies with a specially fascinating charm. Among them one might mention:

Mrs. Wickham, Mrs. Louis Macdonald, Mrs. Minor Goodall, Mrs. Frederick, Mrs. Leon Doe, Mrs. Frederick Stolp, Mrs. William de, Mrs. Mark Repp, Mrs. J. P. Neville, Mrs. Herbert Brown.

Among the young girls on our side of the bay who might well pose for beautiful studies are:

Miss Alice Thompson, Miss Florence, Miss Mary, Mrs. E. P. Brown, Miss Christie Taft, Miss Hazel Palmer, Mrs. Mary Deane, Mrs. Mary, Mrs. Margaret, Mrs. Susan Hall, Miss Anna Sanborn, Mrs. Mary Hall, Miss George, Mrs. Mrs. Berenice, Mrs. Kaitila, Mrs. Macdonald, Miss Ella Lovell.

There are some very stunning types of young matrons as well, among them Mrs. William Thornton White, Mrs. Hiram Hall, Mrs. Harrie Taylor and Mrs. Granville Abbott.

Mrs. Frank C. Havens represents a most unique and original type of beauty, and one hears that her picture recently painted by Richard Partridge is a very lovely study.

No one in these days is really proud of beauty alone. Of course to any woman it is a great gift of fate, but a woman must also have many other characteristics in these later days, if she wishes to succeed socially, or what is better far, if she wishes to be really loved by her relatives and friends.

COUNTRY HOUSES TO BE CLOSED.

Among the country houses to be closed this week are some of the most hospitable at Sunol, among them the country places of the Thomas Hogans, of the Hugh Hogans and of W. M. Du Val.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hogan have been going to Sunol with their children for the past eight summers, and they have built a most picturesque bungalow not far from the station, and they have named their delightful country place "Shingle Shade."

The Thomas Hogans take to Sunol their automobile, and many vacation days are spent in motoring along the good roads which lie between Sunol and San Jose. The young people of the family entertain their friends from town, and the mid-summer days are full of enjoyment in the lovely climate of Sunol.

The Hugh Hogans have one of the most delightful country places in the neighborhood of Sunol. The picturesque bungalow, with its wide porch, is in the center of a charming orchard, the fences lined with berry vines. A delightful swimming tank is on the place, and the Hogans have taken with them to Sunol this year their large touring car.

Guests from town are many, and are always welcome in this delightful country home.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hogan returned to town this week that the children of the family might return to school studies on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hogan and Miss Ella Hogan have spent the past month at Sunol, and when they close their country home for the season Mrs. Hogan and her daughter are planning a trip to the Santa Cruz mountains.

Mr. William Du Val has a very delightful country place in his Pleasanton, and he spends many weeks each summer there with his daughters, the Misses Alice and Mattie Du Val.

The Mehmman and Ab Leach families spend a large part of each summer at Sunol, and they have enjoyed their summer surroundings so much that they are planning to build a large country home high up on the Pleasanton hills. It is to have a large billiard room, and to be in every way a model country home.

DANCING AND THE SMART SET.

Dancing is the great fad that occupies the attention of the smart sets in all parts of the social world. It is, indeed, something more than a fad, for it expresses a certain light-heartedness in a nation, and it expresses a poetical appreciation, whether one finds it in the poetry of music, the poetry of a lot or the poetry of motion. It is not new; one sees dancing depicted in the hieroglyphics on the oldest walls we know—the templed walls of ancient Egypt.

It was the dancing of bare-footed nymphs shown on the walls of old Italian palaces that brought inspiration to such artists as Michelangelo and Isadora Duncan. And now we are beginning to have dancing as an integral part of education for children.

In the summer school at Berkeley folk dances of many nations have been part of the summer course, and bright university women like Tellulah Le Conte and her friends, are in the East studying dancing and planning to go farther afield in the autumn—to learn quaint and unusual steps in the older countries of Europe.

We all remember the "Keenness" of the early spring, and the beautiful dancing of Helen Crane, Helen Turner, Phyllis Lovell, Dorothy Capwell, Georgia Creed, Madeline Gray, Susie Harrold and Caro Mills.

Dancing classes were the order of the hour last winter, one of the most successful being carried on at Mrs. Wickham Havens' home, where there is a large ball room.

The members of the class did exceptionally good work, and among the dancers in the unique class each week were Mrs. Wickham Havens, Mrs. Edward Engs, Mrs. Willard Williamson, Mrs. Oscar Long, Miss Emma Mahony, Mrs. Rosenfeld, Miss Nicholson.

The most famous dancers the world has perhaps ever known are now in Russia, and they have helped to introduce to the London world Mrs. Miller Graham of Santa Barbara. One reads of them:

"Pavlova and Mordkin, the famous Russian dancers, were the principal artists at an entertainment given by Mrs. Miller Graham, Wednesday, at her house in Grosvenor Square. Their services were obtained only by the payment of enormous fees. Many titled English people and a number of Americans were among the guests who applauded their wonderful dancing."

A wonderful description of "muscle made visible" is being extensively quoted, and among the most notable paragraphs are the following:

"The Russian dancers have become a city in London. 'Have you seen Pavlova?' is said so often that it is becoming a catchword, and whenever people meet the wonderful act of this dancer and of her associate, Michael Mordkin, comes up for discussion.

"People go to see them again and again. Their dancing is so wonderful that it is not enough to see them once. Just as you could look forever on a beautiful picture, or never tire of the Venus de Milo, or read and reread some masterpiece of literature, so the desire to see Anna Pavlova and Michael Mordkin is being people of all classes to the Palace Theatre.

There have been world-famous entertainers at this house before; there have been sensations of a season, but never until today has there been a sensation of a century. That is why, every night at about ten o'clock, motor-cars and carriages arrive at the Palace and set down stately women in beautiful dresses, who are content to stand at the back of the stalls, for there are no seats left, rather than forego the wonder and the fascination of the dancers."

Of the dancer's art is written:

"And then from the other side of the stage, like a rose-leaf blown on the wind, Pavlova dances toward him. Dancing does not describe the lightness of her movements. She floats. The tips of her feet tremble on the stage like the quivering, shimmering wings of a butterfly. She seems to be a thing of air—a ghost of lightness—sliding across the garden with trembling feet. The pas de deux is danced, and every pose, every change of expression speaks its story to the looker-on. They personify the music. She, light, laughing and elusive, is the rippling stream wooed by the sun, the brown, strong Mordkin. It is a poem of motion."

MRS. ROBERT WATT GOES TO SAN FRANCISCO.

It is with much regret that her Oakland friends learn that Mrs. Robert Watt, who has lived for so many years on this side of the bay, has decided to make her permanent home in San Francisco, where she has built a very handsome residence. Her daughters, Mrs. C. O. G. Miller (Janet Watt), and Mrs. Doris Y. Campbell (Elizabeth Watt), both have homes across the bay, and Mrs. Watt wishes to be near them. Mr. and Mrs. William Watt are established at Napa, where they have a large country place. They are both on enthusiastic motorists and make extensive motor trips from Napa.

NEW HOMES IN PIEDMONT.

Piedmont steadily adds new homes to its ever growing list of attractive residences. Work on the Mr. A. Requa home will be commenced in the near future, and it will represent one of the most artistic residence on the higher hill slopes.

Mrs. Frank Havens devoted much of her time this summer to directing the work on her beautiful new home, and it expresses her own ideas in a most remarkable way. It will be one of the most unique homes on the Coast.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hall, who some weeks ago sold their home at Piedmont, have bought another residence there, that which was formerly occupied by the Harold Havens.

The Edoff home is being rapidly pushed to completion, and the members of the family will take up their residence in it some time this autumn. Important additions are being made to some of the well-known homes at Piedmont, and they will be admirably adapted for entertaining in the coming season. A large wing, containing a new ball room, is being added to the Wickham

Havens home, and extensive alterations are being made in the Piedmont home of the George McNears.

The E. B. Bradens, who, since the earthquake, have been at the Key Route Inn, will take possession this summer of the handsome new home they have built on the Linda Vista hills.

SUMMER RESORTS THAT CARRY OFF THE HONORS.

As summer resorts, Santa Barbara and Lake Tahoe seem to have carried off the honors this year, and the season in both places is longer than it is elsewhere in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rothlin (Nellie Chabot) have been spending the summer at Santa Barbara and both were guests this week at the "cliff dinner" that Mrs. Andrew Welch gave—the dinner that was planned along such unique lines.

Mrs. Granville Abbott, who had a cottage at Santa Barbara this year, has returned to town and has opened her Piedmont home.

Mrs. Isaac Requa also had a cottage at Miramar this season, Miramar being a beautiful suburb of Santa Barbara.

General and Mrs. Oscar Long and their daughters are spending July at Miramar and the rest of the summer will be spent at their Piedmont home.

ORRICKS GO TO LOS GATOS.

The Oliver S. Orricks have opened their summer home at Los Gatos, and Mrs. Orrick and her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Orrick, have entertained many friends there. Among their guests have been Mr. and Mrs. Murray Orrick. The Orrick summer home is on one of the high hills surrounding Los Gatos, and it commands a magnificent view of the beautiful Santa Clara Valley. The Orricks have given a pretty Spanish name to their Los Gatos home, and have called it "Vista del Valle."

MRS. LAWRENCE COMES WEST.

Mrs. Andrew M. Lawrence and Miss Elizabeth Lawrence have come to the coast for the summer months and are at Del Monte. Mrs. Lawrence, who is the managing editor of the Chicago Examiner, is coming West later in the summer.

COUNTRY HOMES IN CONTRA COSTA.

Beyond the low foothills of the Coast Range, in Contra Costa county, are many delightful country homes. One finds them near Walnut Creek and in the San Ramon Valley.

The Frederick Stratton recently purchased a country place near Alamo, a quaint little town at the base of Mount Diablo. They have been spending the summer there, and each week end they have entertained guests in a most hospitable fashion.

Among the prominent people at Tahoe during the month of July were Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Woodward, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Curtis, Doctor and Mrs. O. D. Hamlin, Oliver Hamlin Jr., Judge and Mrs. Everett Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Magee.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Requa, who had a cottage at Tahoe this year, have returned from the mountains and have opened their Berkeley home.

MISS BERNARD MILLER GIVES A LUNCHEON.

Mrs. Bernard Miller was the hostess early this week at a very delightful luncheon given to a group of congenial friends. Her guests were the board of managers of the Mary R. Smith cottages, a group of women who for years have worked together in carrying out one of the most notable experiments of the age. It led the way in philanthropic effort, and was the first experiment in founding real homes for girls which was a success. Its success is due, in a measure, to the wise administration of affairs of the board of managers, the members of which have never been changed since the first picturesque cottage on Cottage Hill was built.

Among Mrs. Miller's guests were Mrs. Edward Walsh, Mrs. T. L. Barker, Mrs. J. K. McLean, Mrs. Charles R. Brown, Miss Mary Alexander, Miss Emma Wellman, Mrs. Gray, Mrs. R. H. Chamberlain, Dr. Annette Buckel.

After the luncheon Mrs. Miller entertained her guests at a delightful afternoon, when they all enjoyed the opera at Idora Park.

BAD WEATHER IN EUROPE.

Paris has sent to Californians this year the best there has been of summer vacation days. In Europe the unusually bad weather has been a sort of much discomfort to the thousands of tourists who have chosen this year to travel in strange lands. Very few travelers have remained in Paris any length of time this summer. It has not at all held the center of European interest this season. Tourists have passed through on their way to other cities, and they have planned to linger longer.

With the end of the London season approaching, the more prominent Americans are leaving town in large numbers, the majority going to the Continent, while not a few are making motoring trips through the British Isles.

On the Continent Carlsbad seems to be the most favored resort, with Ostend, presumably for its bathing attractions, a good second; while nearly all the visitors are staying over a day or two in Brussels to run through the exhibition.

A number of Americans, too, are going north shortly in preparation for the grouse shooting, which is next month. There is a great deal of shooting preserves, especially those in Scotland, where reports are that the birds promise to be exceptionally plentiful this season.

Although the exodus from London has set in, it is not to be supposed that the metropolis is denuded of Americans, for as fast as one party leaves a favorite hotel their rooms are taken by others.

Among the Americans who made an extended stay in London this season were Miss Blanche Boardman and Mrs. Stuart Cotton.

United States Senator Flint and Mrs. Flint are at the Hotel Russell in London. They are planning an extended trip on the Continent before returning to America.

The Francis Carolans have been in London but they recently left that city for Paris, where they are to join their friends at the Hotel Ritz.

BERLIN POPULAR WITH AMERICANS.

The popularity of Berlin among the Americans remains unabated. According to the calendar the American season is more than half over, but the streets, theaters, restaurants, shops and hotels of Berlin utterly belie the fact. They still resound to the tread of low-cut American heels and the swish of tailor-made skirts.

The centenary celebration of Berlin University is scheduled to take place this summer, and among American representatives at the celebration will be President Nicholas Murray of New York and President Benjamin Ide Wheeler of California.

MR. AND MRS. SHARON TO COME TO STATE.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Sharon, who have been for some months in Europe, spending most of their time in Paris, are to arrive in the near future in California, and will be at the Palace Hotel. During their stay on the coast they will make a brief visit to Piedmont, where they will be guests of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Sharon.

ATHLETICS AT EASTERN RESORTS.

It has not been a great year for athletics at the Eastern summer resorts, the unusual heat making vigorous exercise an impossibility. At Shelter Island, Sag Harbor and the many summer resorts, golf and tennis have been given up for the milder game of croquet. In the Shelter Island news notes one reads:

"Society here has taken up an old-fashioned croquet. Matches are played daily before a large gallery of spectators, who show great enthusiasm over the various plays. As a result of the popularity of croquet, tennis has stepped down. Formerly the only sport the summer colony could see was tennis. Now the courts are being transformed into fine lawns for croquet."

"To promote properly the new pastime a croquet club has been formed, in which the officers take much interest."

"A word to the wise is sufficient," is an old saying, and that means we might like our croquet sets and begin playing on some of the lawns, which make such excellent croquet grounds. Croquet has this advantage. One may be beautifully groomed, look one's best, and still play a delightful game. We all know how the golf girl looks when she comes in from the links, and as to the tennis girl, well, the picture she makes at the end of a game is hardly inspiring.

MOVE INTO THEIR NEW HOME.

Mr. and Mrs. David Sutphen have moved into their new home at Piedmont, and their daughter, Miss Helen Sutphen, who is a very gifted violinist, has recently returned from New York. Of Miss Sutphen a leading Eastern journal says:

"Helen Sutphen, violinist, who returned to Oakland, Cal., from New York last week, received her diploma as a graduate of the Institute of Musical Art of New York, of which Frank Damrosch is director and Franz Kniesel the head of the violin department. The four years' course which Miss Sutphen completed required work in piano, theory, musical history, orchestra, and along all these lines Miss Sutphen achieved a very notable success."

PALMER'S HAVE A HOME AT BROOKDALE.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren S. Palmer had a country home for the season this year at Brookdale, and it was occupied most of the time by their relatives, and their bright young daughter, Miss Alice Palmer, entertained her girl friends there. Mr. Palmer has been, as usual, exceedingly busy this year, for the popular Northwestern line has broken the record for traffic. It is so ably managed that its popularity is steadily increasing, and its friends watch its progress to the north with a very vital interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer have only been out of town, when business affairs have called Mr. Palmer on the lines of the Northwestern, for it happens that vacation days come but seldom to so busy a man as Mr. Palmer. And there are few well-known more sincere than both of them extend, in a most unselfish fashion, to friends in their Alameda home.

GETTING CHILDREN READY FOR SCHOOL.

On all sides country homes are being closed, people are rushing home with their children for the opening of school days. The older people, too, must turn away from vacation times and take up tasks in the great school of life. Time is a hard task-master, but anybody can beat him out with a little effort. All one needs is a brave and cheerful heart, and away goes old Time flying down the highway, and there's sunshine in life's great school!

COUNTRY HOMES IN ALAMEDA COUNTY.

Among the most hospitable of the Alameda county country homes is that of the Carlton Cranes, which is at Decoto, and is a charming bungalow in the heart of a superb apricot orchard. Mrs. Crane and her daughter, Helen Crane, have many weekend guests, who enjoy a most delightful visit. Miss Crane, whose superb voice was heard in "Carmen" at the "Kermis" early this year, is a charming hostess. She is very fond of horses, and she rides and drives in a very fearless fashion and exceedingly well.

Miss Caro Mills, Mrs. Whitehead's niece, was a recent guest of Miss Helen Crane at the latter's home near Decoto.

PICTURES IN THE MEDDLER.

Miss Mariana Matthews, whose picture is to today's Meddler, is the niece of Captain and Mrs. U. B. Seabury of Berkeley and a graduate of the University of California, where she is a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Since her graduation tion she has been closely identified with sorority affairs in the college town. Her fiance is the son of J. J. von Loben Sels, a capitalist in the bay region, and also a graduate of the State University. He is a member of the Alpha Delta Phi society.

Mrs. John Brodie, who was formerly Miss Laura Leimert of this city, has decided to make her home in Portland, where Mr. Brodie has business interests. Their new home was completed this week and Mr. and Mrs. Brodie will move in on Monday. Mrs. Brodie may visit her mother, Mrs. H. Leimert of this city, at the end of the summer, and meanwhile is being much entertained in Portland.

SOCIETY

MR. CORA E. JONES is leaving today for San Jose, where she will spend the week end with friends. Mrs. Jones will be the guest of honor next week of Mrs. Gertie D. Jones at a tea which is being arranged for a dozen intimate friends of the hostess and her committed guests.

Mrs. Jones has recently returned from the East, where she spent two months or more visiting in the larger cities.

MISS MARJORIE EMMONS and Miss Carolyn Hall, who are touring Europe this summer, are planning to sail for Honolulu the first week of August. They are to visit for a fortnight in New York en route west and will stop at Bloomington, Ill.

Mrs. Leopold Levy and Miss De Re Tiesle are enjoying a fortnight vacation in Napa county, where they are the guests of Mrs. Horst. Mrs. Levy's mother, at the Horst home in Rutherford.

Vatican and Spain Are at War

AMBASSADOR'S RECALL FIRES STRIFE IN SPAIN

Both Government and Clerical Parties Have Accepted Challenge.

SITUATION COMPLICATED BY JAIME'S INTRUSION

Vatican Element Wants Premier Removed; He Wants Modernization.

MADRID, July 29.—Excitement in the capital and throughout Spain is intense over the conflict which has been declared by the Vatican yesterday with the decision of Premier Canalejas to recall the Spanish ambassador to the Vatican.

Both the government and clerical parties have accepted the challenge to battle and the situation complicated by the intrusion of Don Jaime the exiled pretender to the throne into existing conditions.

The situation is developing as a result of the recall of the ambassador, which is a move of the government to take a precautionary measure and prohibiting demonstrations from which violence might result.

WANT CANALEJAS BEATEN

The clerical element, which has often been a source of trouble in Spain, shows no hesitation in entering upon the conflict and seems to have set its aim upon minor concessions and a compromise acceptable to the Holy See. Upon the downfall of Canalejas and the cabinet and the cancellation of the program of reform.

SEEKS MODERNIZATION

Premier Canalejas has been elected to a position of honor and respect in the complete abandonment of the clerical element as a factor in the government of the kingdom and the cancellation of the program of reform.

CAN WOMAN, FAIR WOMAN, TELL THE TRUTH? 'THEY CERTAINLY CAN,' SHOUTS BIG CHORUS

ATTORNEY SEYMOUR IS REFUTED ON ALL SIDES

Persons in Public Life Say Feminine Sex Is Equal of Sterner One.

AFTERMATH OF CHICO TRIAL RAISES STORM

Governor and Judges Among Champions of Eve's Daughters.

(By LYNN ETHEL WILSON)

MINNIE is up in arms. The veracity of the sex has been attacked.

"No woman can tell the truth," declares Attorney Arthur Seymour, former District Attorney of Sacramento. "Prevarication with them is an instinct."

Like a thunderbolt he hurled the allegation into an astounded crowd of spectators who crowded the temporary courtroom at the Chico Normal School on the last day of the examination of Dr. C. Van Liew, president of the institution who has just been exonerated on a charge of hugging Miss Ada Clark, a 16-year-old student against her will.

One accord the spectators two thirds of them women, arose in protest. Hisses and murmurs filled the air. The chairman was forced to rap again and again for order. And then just when the clouds hung thickest Attorney General Webb arising for his stammering argument refuted the charge in ringing words to the accompaniment of wild applause.

DEMAND RETRACTION

The incident is past. But like the lowering aftermath of a windstorm in the frozen north, indignation holds its breath and suffragist, housewife and club woman alike rise to demand a retraction of the statement.

From every part of the state expressions from prominent men and women are pouring in. The governor and the attorney general of the state join with the chorus of indignation.

KRAPP PITCHES GREAT GAME; RYAN FINDS HENLEY FOR HOMER

BEAVERS BREAK LONG STRING OF DEFEATS; OAKS WIN ANOTHER FROM HOGAN

PORTLANDS BREAK THE LONG STRING OF GOOSE EGGS

Krapp Pitches Excellent Ball, Which, Coupled With Ryan's Homer, Annexes a 3 to 2 Game.

By BERT LOWRY.

"Buddy" Ryan, ably assisted by "Mr. (Hunk) Shaw, made it possible for "Wee Willie" Krapp to win a ball game for the Portland Beavers yesterday and if ever a man deserved to have victory perch on his shoulders that man was the happy little slabster of the Beavers. There he stood on that mound for nine long innings pitching baseball that would have made a star headline in any league in the land. Behind him the Beavers were playing a listless sort of game, that is, some of the men with hardly a feeling for the youngster. Yet he kept shooting them over the pan with all the grit in the world, and when that eighth inning was over and the men from the north had three runs nearly everybody on the lot gave him a cheer.

Henley, too, did well enough, but you must hand it to that team behind him, for they cut off several hits and runs during the playing of the game—that is, all except the aforementioned Mr. Shaw, who took Ryan's place at third base. Time and again some slugs would leave a Beaver's bat all pinned for a hit, but bingo! some Seal was in front of it and back to the water bucket went the pitcher.

SEALS GET ONE ON A BOOT AT THIRD.

Both pitchers worked like good fellows the first three innings, and but for a boot on a hard chance at third base the men of Cal would not have been scored. Still, the making of runs is what makes a ball game, so we must look to the boys with the hingles.

With no one gone in the last half of the third, Berry for the Seals slipped the second hit of the game, a daisy, into center field. McCarde fielded a pretty sacrifice and Berry beat it to second. Henley hit a slow one down to Olson, was out at first, but the hit allowed Berry to make third. Shaw, at the ball along the third base line, got Tommy Sheehan (fizzled on, and Berry got to the plate. One run.

OLSON'S FOZZLE GIVES SEALS ONE.

McCarde opened the fifth inning with a slow one at Olson, and when this got missed connections with the ball he fowled. Berry was safe at first, but Berry, bunted, putting the Seals in the lead, moving to third on McCarde's out. Now comes Henley with the second and last strike of the game, a daisy, a lovely drive to the flagpole in center field. It went after it, and so did Spens. But it was too far away for the Seals to catch, and while Henley made second McCarde spiked the pan. Another run.

RYAN STARTS THE RALLY AND SHAW FINISHES IT.

The jinks was with the Beavers ever now and then, for they were hitting Henley good and hard, but that was about all. Now comes Ryan with the third hit, a lovely drive to the flagpole in center field. It went after it, and so did Spens. But it was too far away for the Seals to catch, and while Henley made second McCarde spiked the pan. Another run.

THE JINKS WAS WITH THE BEAVERS EVER NOW AND THEN, FOR THEY WERE HITTING HENLEY GOOD AND HARD, BUT THAT WAS ABOUT ALL. NOW COMES RYAN WITH THE THIRD HIT, A LOVELY DRIVE TO THE FLAGPOLE IN CENTER FIELD. IT WENT AFTER IT, AND SO DID SPENS. # OAKLAND TEAM AGAIN WINS FROM HOGAN'S HIRED MEN Timely Hitting and Christian's Pitching Helped Local Boys Into Third Place Yesterday.

Portland, by reason of its victory and the defeat of Vernon in the south, takes second place again, and the Beavers drop into third position. Los Angeles lost again to the tatters, and is now within striking distance of the mark which indicates that it has lost more games than it has won. Another defeat, and the Angels will be out of the 500 class.

LOS ANGELES, July 30.—Napoleon Hogan received another shock here yesterday when the Wolverines sent him home with the short end of a 5-to-0 score. It was one of those fast exciting games that have the fans on edge all the time and the Oaks well deserved the victory.

Nelson started to do the heavy lifting for the Oaks, but in the fifth inning he connected for a double to the left-field fence and the shock of the error that he turned his ankle and had to give place to Christian, who held the fighting Hogan to two hits for the rest of the afternoon. With the pitcher's aid, the Oaks won the game, 5 to 0.

The Oaks team started off with a rush in the first frame when Hogan singled, and the Oaks took a 1-0 lead. The next man up, found one to his left and clouted the horseshoe over the 1-ft-fence, scoring three runs.

In the Vernon half of the fourth Roy Brown, pitcher, pitched a third-inning home run, which was the only run of the game. Brown pitched a third-inning home run, which was the only run of the game.

CHARLEY BAUM OUTPITCHES ROY CASTLETON, AND THE SENATORS WIN

Perry's Three Bagger Is a Big Factor in the Victory of Graham's Men.

SACRAMENTO, July 30.—It was bitter for Los Angeles yesterday to drop game No. 1 to the Senators after getting a lead of three runs, but Hank Perry answered the request of the multitude and landed the three-bagger with a terrific drive into left field in the sixth, which brought in the three runs.

Boardman landed Perry home with the winning run by placing a sacrifice fly to left field. With excitement at its height, the three runs came galloping across on Perry's hit.

Baum and Lefty Castleton strided out, but Sacramento began the hit in damage when Lefty hit into a double play to second on Baum's out and so on when Lefty hit into a double play to second on Baum's out and so on.

When it comes down to pitch, this boy Krapp is about as good as any of them hereabouts. His work yesterday was excellent, and had he been played baseball behind him, he would have been a star.

Another good game for the Beavers yesterday, as they won from the Oaks, 3 to 2. The game was a close one, with the Beavers leading 3 to 2 in the seventh inning.

PHILADELPHIA, July 30.—After two successive defeats by Washington, the Beavers today got a much needed victory, as they won from the Senators by a score of 4 to 0.

OAKS HAS TAKEN BRACE, GIVING VERNONS MERRY TIME

Home Guards Break Even So Far and Stand an Excellent Chance of Winning Majority of Games.

Once again is there a change in the percentage column of the Coast League. San Francisco is still leading with a pretty good margin, but Portland and Los Angeles have both slipped back into second place once more.

Oakland, by defeating the Vernons yesterday, has taken a lead of 3 to 2 in the series. This should be of great encouragement to the Oaks.

Los Angeles, by grace of four straight defeats in Sacramento, has dropped back to fifth place. Sacramento is still in the last hole, but as we said before, this team always creeps up and makes it very difficult for the rest of the team when they think the Senators are going to be a pinch.

AMATEUR BALLPLAYERS FORM ORGANIZATION TO HELP GAME ALONG

Representatives of over thirty independent baseball clubs of this city and the bay counties took definite shape toward the organization of an amateur baseball association and elected officers at an enthusiastic meeting held last night at Spaulding's store.

The meeting was presided over by the Hon. Thomas F. Graham, president of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, and was attended by many of the leading players and managers of the independent teams.

The following are the officers elected: Joseph Burbank, president; George Burbank, vice-president; George Burbank, secretary; and Henry Burbank, treasurer.

Monarchs to Play Fast Goodyear Team

Next Sunday at 2:30 the fast Goodyear team of San Francisco and the Monarchs of East Oakland will clash at the Oakland Athletic Club grounds, 10th and College avenue.

Both teams will be out for blood and a very fast and interesting contest is looked for. The Goodyear team is coached by the late Harry Killebrew, and the Monarchs by the late Harry Killebrew.

SPORTS: EDITED BY EDDIE SMITH

TRIBUNE TO HOLD BIG TOURNAMENT FOR AMATEURS

TRIBUNE WILL INAUGURATE TOURNAMENT TO TEST SKILL OF ALAMEDA COUNTY ATHLETES

By EDDIE SMITH.

IN ORDER that the young men of Alameda county may be encouraged to perfect themselves in the athletic world and with a desire to encourage the hardihood of the young men who will in a few years, take the places among the citizens of the state of California, to do his share in the making up of the professional or commercial business that must of necessity increase with the further development of the state, THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE is about to inaugurate a series of contests in which the young men of Alameda county will be allowed to compete.

In the hope of determining the best all-around athlete in this county. Any young athlete residing in the county of Alameda who is 18 years of age or under will be given an opportunity to compete in these contests, and there will be of such a variety of endeavor that every young man will have an equal chance. The winner will be presented with a handsome trophy that he can well be proud of during the remainder of his life and a second and third place trophy will be awarded. The winner of each contest will also be awarded a prize.

The coming events for the Alameda county championships will be of such importance that the contest might well be termed the most interesting and important event that Alameda county has known along athletic lines. All of the contests will be of the character that brings out the individual supremacy, there will be no team events or team races or anything of that sort—every event will count for so many points for first, second and third places. In this manner it will be possible for the winner of the first place to not win a first place in any event, the total number of points the young man has earned all together being the deciding basis on which the trophy is to be awarded.

It is to be no small mark of distinction to win the Alameda county all-around athletic championship, either. It will be a hard task, but will be well worth the effort. The events will include several distances in foot racing, weight and broad jump, pole vault, hurdle race, shot put, hammer throw, swimming races of various distances, boat races and other events that may be deemed necessary. In this manner it can be seen that the young men who have had the advantage of some special training along the lines of field events or foot racing will not have all the best of the chance to win. It is the intention of THE TRIBUNE to give every young man interested a fair chance to win the honor, and a corps of judges and a committee of three experts will be selected to handle the events, that will positively guarantee every entry a fair chance.

In this regard we are anxious to have the young men of the county help us, and any information or suggestion that those interested may see fit to make will be not only appreciated, but will receive consideration at our hands. It is up to the young men of the county to make this event the greatest event that Alameda county has ever known, and if the interest is shown in it that we have every reason to believe there will be, the events will be well contested and the entries large. Every young man will have a chance to make a name for himself, and every one will be given a chance to compete who shows the least interest.

For the reasons given we are not going to set down the rules of the contest without first obtaining the views of the young men who are to compete. We want you to be a party to the making up of the rules that will govern the contest and all that is necessary for the entering of the events is that the entrant is a bona fide amateur of 18 years of age or less. In the great majority of cases the leaders of amateur athletics have been asked as to their feeling in the matter of determining the best all-around athlete among the youth of this county, and the enthusiasm they have shown over the prospects of the event lead us to believe that the affair will prove a gigantic success.

The date for the first event and the further details of the affair will be published from time to time, and for that reason we will welcome any suggestion that the young men who feel they may compete or who are interested, may see fit to make. Watch these events for the all-around championship and get ready to make a nearly entry so that you may help us to determine the best all-around athlete in Alameda county.

JACK JOHNSON WILL SEEK PLEASURES IN 'LUNNON TOWN'

Colored Champion Is Preparing to Make the Rounds of England, But Will Not Box.

Join Al Thur Johnson is going to England. Johnson has had a long time to visit the little island ever since he bested Tommy Burns and he will no doubt be given a great reception by the British. The men who know the boxing game in the world have always been great admirers of Johnson and long ago predicted that he would be the champion of the world. While Jeffries ruled in 1906 and 1907, Johnson was the favorite of the public. Johnson was a 20 to 1 favorite in the betting ring. Johnson will not fight in England, but he will clean up a world of money in the English islands. He is in Paris. The people across the water are not prejudiced against the colored boxer as they are in this country, and it is to be expected that Johnson will open his first bout in London. Johnson will not be able to be at the ringside on the evening that he is expected to fight. Johnson is expected to arrive in London on the 31st.

son would second Kaufman, but this now seems impossible.

Bill Delaney has written to friends in Oakland to the effect that Al Kaufman is a fine addition to his boxing match. Delaney has been created throughout the world as the best of the best. Delaney does not state whether or not he will be in the corner of the man he has bested, but he does not venture any opinion as to who he thinks will win. Delaney is not interested in Kaufman, even though he is not under his charge any more and he is little doubt that he will be active in the backfield in the contest.

At Astoria next Friday night, P. H. Harkin will stage a couple of boxing bouts, the main event of which will be made up of two local scrappers, Jimmy Burns of Oakland and Spiller Roche of San Francisco. Burns is a 20 to 1 favorite in the betting ring and will be the favorite in the preliminary bouts. While out on his own, Peter Grant will be the timekeeper.

AMERICAN FOOTBALL GROWING IN FAVOR

Several Teams Getting Into Shape for This Form of Winter Sport.

In anticipation of the coming football season at moments are being made to organize a football team. The boys are as well as one or two others and southern cities with a schedule to the American football.

Those present at this work are the crack Century Club of Oakland and Winged Victory of Alameda who will both be in the running this year. The Winged Victory has a long, strong, and snappy line of players, and is expected to be one of the state champions.

The Century club has a strong line of players, and is expected to be one of the state champions.

STANDARD RIVAL TO HAVE STORAGE

War Between Big Oil Companies to Prove Disastrous for Some One.

NEW YORK, July 30.—The Texas company, John W. Gates, $12,000,000 in assets, which has been making an aggressive fight to get business in the east and which does not seem to care whether the Standard Oil company likes its methods or not, has secured a lease on a large tract of land at the foot of Clinton street, Brooklyn, and proposes to erect a large storage plant on it at once. This plant, when completed, is to be the main distributing plant of the Texas company. When the work is completed, the Texas company will be a formidable rival of the Standard and all men need a fear that will result disastrous for some one.

Three Women Hurt in Auto Collision

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Three women were injured, a controversy started and a lawsuit threatened when an automobile containing Mrs. Albert J. Ehrman and Mrs. Sylvia Schwaibacher, members of the smart set, collided with a car within a stone's throw of William S. Tevis' country estate at Hillsborough.

The injured women who were in the car are Mrs. Jules Kraus of San Mateo, Miss May Hawthorn, a teacher in the Alameda high school, and Miss Florence Goehner, an artist. The women were thrown out of the car into a ravine, sustaining serious injuries. There were taken to the hospital some in an automobile belonging to Tevis.

COALINGA SWEEP BY GREAT BLAZE

More Than Half Business
Block in Oil City Razed by Fire Demon.

COALINGA, July 30.—Starting from the explosion of a gasoline tank in Cushman's paint shop, a fire swept over the main business section of the town yesterday afternoon, burning over half a block in D street, between Fourth and Fifth, causing damage to the extent of $25,000 or more.

FANNED BY BREEZE.

The flames were fanned by a strong afternoon breeze and for a while the entire town was threatened. It was not until late that the firemen, aided by many volunteers, placed the blaze under control. A full study of the cause of the fire is being made by the fire department. The fire was caused by a gas leak from a tank in Cushman's paint shop, which was next door to the fire house, there was great difficulty in placing the blaze under control, as the fire house was one of the first buildings to be destroyed, and with it some of the apparatus.

The respective losses were as follows: Coalinga opera house, $12,000; fire house, $5,000; painting mill, $500 (no insurance); public library, $500; paint shop, $100; Hammond's grocery, $500; Times building, $15,000; shooting gallery, $500; Jewett's and the Coalinga transfer company total $20,000; Hanford foundry, $15,000.

UNION MEN WIN IN CONTROVERSY

Painters Insist That Knights
Templar Arch Is Building and Not Furniture.

CHICAGO, July 30.—In the Knights Templar Arch is it a building? This was the question that arose yesterday in the minds of members of various crafts employed in the construction of the arch. As a result members of the upholsterers' union clashed with officers of the painters' union.

DEMAND SCALE.

"Because of the unusual nature of the work and the 'hazard' of working near molten metal, the painters who took the upholsterers' job demanded 50 cents an hour."

PLACED ON JOBS.

A hurried consultation of employees followed and the painters were put to work. As planned by the construction company to whitewash the arch after the cheese cloth had been tacked on, the upholsterers' union struck. The painters' union would not permit them to whitewash the structure because there is no whitewashers' union in Chicago.

Governor Marooned on River Sandbar

SACRAMENTO, July 30.—Eighty passengers, including Governor Gillet and his family, were marooned for three hours last night on the sand bar Nevada, which was held fast in the grip of a sand bar at a bend in the Sacramento river, a mile below this city.

FLOAT OF BABIES WILL BE FEATURE OF SUFFRAGE SHOW

NEW YORK, July 30.—There are to be some unique features in a monster suffrage parade which is to take place in New York City in October at the opening gun of the suffragists' fall campaign. According to the announcements just issued one float is to be filled with "suffrage babies" to show that suffragists do not neglect rearing families.

Another float is to contain "the most beautiful American suffragists" seated in a sedan chair. A third float will carry "three pioneer suffrage workers"—three women who took an active part in the first suffrage meeting in this country, held at Geneva, N. Y., in 1848. The three women are Miss Roda Palmer of Seneca Falls, Mrs. James Casey and Mrs. W. P. Hallowell of Rochester.

One section of the parade will be devoted to demonstrating that women are usurping man's place in many trades and professions. There will be a division of women athletes and a squadron of women on horseback, driving four-in-hands and automobiles.

CHICAGO, July 30.—In reply to the prediction of E. L. Moody, member of the delegation Congress, now in session here, that Japan is preparing for war with the United States, K. Yamasaki, the Japanese consul at Chicago has sent a communication to a local paper in which he says:

Irate Capitalist Pummels Attorney

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Two dollars' worth of gold causes more than $2 worth of trouble to Theodore W. Klinkenberg, the attorney with offices in the Mills building, yesterday morning when Carlton Wall, capitalist and real estate operator, caught him at the top of four flights of stairs and accomplished some fine handiwork. Which all happened at the Chismore apartment, Bush and Jones streets, which are conducted by Mrs. Jeanie Patterson, Wall's mother-in-law.

Hamilton to Fly at Big State Fair

SACRAMENTO, July 30.—Charles K. Hamilton, the daring aviator who won sensational performances during the last few months have electrified the East, has been engaged to fly every day during the Festival of the Dawn of Gold. The members of the state committee are greatly elated over their $2000 in prizes for the breaking of Hamilton's a substitute for Glenn Curtiss, as the former is considered to be a much more spectacular performer.
